Hi, everyone! Am I the first one this time? I'm the early bird, that gets the worm!

congratulations nataanna and i would say like your expression" i'm the early bird, that gets the worm"

SKIKDA

Hi Natanna. Congratulations. It's great that I see you as the first one. Keep it up.

nkhl

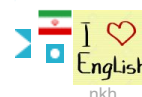

nataanna

Thank you, nkhl453!

Thank to EngVid we can say some pleasant words to people from all over the world. Thank Rebecca for the new lesson.

Have you noticed I had challenged SKIKDA to competition for the next "worm". Join us! Have a nice day!

Yes I'm aware. Ok I join you.

nkhl

SKIKDA

HI EVERYBODY, IN ORDER TO EVERYONE KNOW ABOUT EACH OTHERS, I WOULD SAY TO YOU (EVERYONE TELL US WHEN HE'VE JOINED THIS WEBSITE) I HOPE THIS IDEA YOU APPRECIATE IT.

i joined this website in september 2015 , how about you?

SKIKDA

SKIKDA

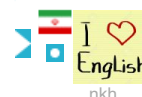

sorry i mean ' in september 2016'

nataanna

I signed up about a year ago (Jan 2016), but used to watch videos from time to time. And started commenting from November 2016. I've been watching every new video and some past ones since then. And feel myself content about that. And of course, I'm very glad to have you all as pen pals. See you.

Hello SKIKDA, I've joined this website for six months. So I think you can estimate the exact date by your own. Am I right???

nkhl

Congratulation!

Soei

Yes, you are first, Nataanna! Congratulations, thanks for watching, and all the best to you.

Welcome! This is the best way to improve your skill English ctierrez

nataanna

Hi,ctierrez! How are you? I haven't seen you here before. Are you a newcomer or the an experienced member of EngVid?

Hello! I'm okay, learning English, is the same case too, I haven't seen you here before. I'm not a newcomer, I've been studying here at EngVid since one and half year ago and a learned a lot of things, I love all the teachers and all the things here.

hi everybody i am the second one and i wil the first one who share the worm with you if you don't mind nataanna.

Of course, I don't mind! There are a lot of worms in English, especially James's ones. For example: I planed on worning my way into being the first one, because I had asked about the lessons release time and had got some tips. But it'll be more hilarious if we comment James's and Mr. E videos in such way. See you.

nataanna

Sorry, Mr.E and James's video.

don' worry because mr james don't read comments at all.

SKIKDA

nataanna

What about Mr. E?

SKIKDA

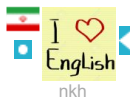

Mr E sometimes, i prefer the teachers who reply us than they don't and i hope all will reply us.

nkH

Hello again SKIKDA. I agree with you, teachers who answer to our comments are more popular, at least for me. In addition I wanted to say that you write so good but if I'm not wrong in your top comment you have some mistakes and if you don't mind I would correct your mistakes. First of all you must say James doesn't read not don't read. Second you shouldn't use Mr with first name. Good luck

Sorry I have mistake too!!! If you don't mind I correct your mistakes not I would correct your mistakes.

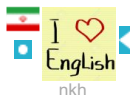

nkh

SKIKDA

thak you nkh , i will consider this mistakes in the next days , i am just a beginner but i will do my best to be advanced.

nkh

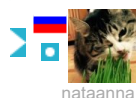

Great, keep it up.

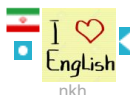

tajikTJ

Hello how are you ?

SKIKDA,there is an expression in Russian language (it's based on words formation): the word resentful (in Russian) consists of two words – evil+memory. In other words, if you combine them together, you'll get one word with the meaning "resentful".
The Russians often say: I'm not angry (evil), but I have good memory. That literally means, that the person will remember something VERY good. And will revenge!!!
Ha-ha!!!! It's, of course, a joke. It sounds fun, really.
SO!!!! I have good memory. I think English helps me a lot with it (memorizing words trains it. I believe).
You've ate my worm! I have to get another one! Let's compete!
Ready, steady, go!!!!!!!!!!!!

nkh

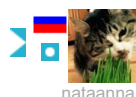

Good luck 🍀

SKIKDA

let's get the ball rolling, it will be fun , my pleasure, and good luck for everyone.

The best of luck to everyone!

nataanna

Hello Rebecca. Thank you for such a useful lesson. This subject looks simple but some times can confound us. Thanks again and nice teaching.

Dear Rebecca,
A simple but very useful reminder. I got 10 correct out of 10.
: D Thank you. Best regards.

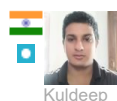

Thanks a lot, Rebecca. This is a interesting revision.

Hiii, it's my first time here. I don't speak english very well, so i'll need everyone's help. have a nice day.
Thanks a lot Rebecca. This video help me a lot. i'm going to study a lot.

The best wishes for you

Many thanks Rebecca!!

knopfler86

hi knopfler you are always here you've followed the most videos of engVid you are really assiduous person,i appreciate you .

SKIKDA

knopfler86

Yes, I really like this webpage. I think that all the teachers are really really good and their explanations very clear. I also recommend this webpage to all of my friends who are learning English ;)

Hello, knopfler86! I recommend these lessons as well. Most explanations ARE unique because of their simplicity, aren't they?

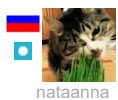

nataanna

knopfler86

For me, the most difficult lessons are those about vocabulary. I think I know many words when I take the quiz, which is just seconds later after watching the video, but a couple of days later, I forget about most of them, so I should watch the video again. Doesn't it happen to you as well??

nataanna

Yes, of course! I watch videos many times, not even twice, much more! And take quizzes afterwards until I kill them!

I read some scientific researches about studying foreing languages (a lot of them). They said that one had to come across a new word at least twelve!!!! times until you got used to it and it became familiar to you, and it came into your ACTIVE Vocabulary. So, it's normal! There's no simple way for studying English. I've been learning it for twenty!!! years. But I made great success only last five years due to the internet technologies and of course EngVid! Make fun while studying. Join us in competition for the first comment! It's great! See you

Marylou

Hi Rebecca! You had a good idea to remember us this tense verb. I think I didn't have all understand, but now it's ok! it's nice to learn with you!
Thanks a lot. Marylou.

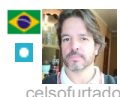

Thanks, Marylou. If I may correct you, you wanted to say:

You had a good idea to remind us of this past tense verb.

By the way, did you know there was a famous song many years ago by Ricky Nelson called "Hello, Marylou". You can find it on youtube! It's a sweet song! All the best to you!

Rebecca

celsofurtado

I had a great punctuation because the teacher didn't have any difficulty to talk about so important theme. Each time I see your lessons I learn more and more. Thanks so much Rebecca.

Glad to know you found the lesson helpful, my friend. All the best to you!

Rebecca

lucky.cirin

Hi, I am starting studing... and I don't know in which lesson start. Help me please. :)

angardiobel

It was an easy lesson but with a lot of past tenses, then you can doubt sometimes with the present and past tenses. It was funny and amusing. Thanks a lot, teacher Rebecca, a good review of the auxiliary verb "TO HAVE".

Isaias
Menezes Silva

Rebecca, thanks a lot! You make it seems so easy, especially about a important topic as this one. It was a very good lesson!

Thanks for your kind words,Isaias. Glad you found the lesson helpful. I wish you all the best and am sure you are improving your English every single day! Where there's a will, there's a way!

NECO423

Thanks Rebecca, your lessons always be so easy to understand. I like every lesson that you show because I am very able to learn and improve a lot my english level.

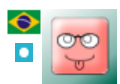

Thanks for your kind comments, NECO423. A small correction, for you, from me:

Your lessons are always so easy to understand.

I wish you all the best in improving your English and am sure you'll achieve your goal. Thank you for choosing to learn with us at EngVid.

Rebecca

samuel.martins

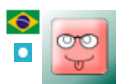

I've got 9 out of 10. However, even I knowing the correct answer of the question number 9, I don't understand it. It seems like the sentence doesn't make sense.

When did your team have to arrive?

This means "At what time was it necessary for your team to arrive?" When we say "have to" it means "must". Hope that helps you understand number 9 better. All the best to you, Samuel.

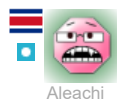

Rebecca

samuel.martins

Thanks, Rebecca! Now I understand.

You got 6 correct out of 10.
I didn't watched this lessenIt was very easy for me :)

Yes it's an easy subject.

nk

I think it would be helpful to watch the lesson so you get an even higher score! I'm sure you can do it! Also, please note this correction:

I didn't watch this lesson.

Even with other verbs besides "have", we come back to the base form of the verb in negative sentences. I wish you all the best, amirrezaee.

Yes, it is always helpful to strengthen our understanding of the basics, Fabio. My best wishes to you!

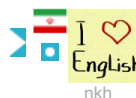

Hi Rebecca ...
Please, I need your help
I am studying English and have subject called Testing for language teachers and I is very difficult. How can I study this subject?

Sorry. From your question, I don't have enough information to help you out. Just try sitting down with a good dictionary and work your way quietly through each sentence. When a passage is too hard, it's usually because the vocabulary is too hard or the grammar is confusing. Start with understanding the words. All the best to you, Saba.

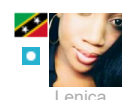

Thank you dear I will try to do the best.

Wow. What a scary picture you put.

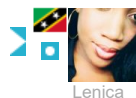

this is very hard for me.

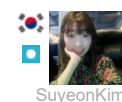

Awesome teaching

Teaching*

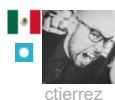

Interestingly enough, English speakers will sometimes use a noun as a verb like you just did, to mean "to act like a [noun]". It's used in casual English to be funny. For example,

"Just paid off my credit card debt. Adulting feels good."
[Commenting on a picture of a cat doing something weird] "I think he forgot how to cat."

Hi Rebecca :D I really appreciate your teaching! Have a great day :)))

OH! YES I GOT 10/10

Ryan..

Hello every one and a special regard for Rebecca i would like to ask you a question about this lesson that we know the subjects She, HE, and it, are usually take the word Has. so why we couldn't use it with them instead of have here in this lesson ? for example you mentioned in the negative 1- Gorge didn't have a lot of friends. and in question – Did gorge have a lot of friends ? why we didn't use – Gorge didn't has a lot of friends. Did gorge has a lot friends ? can you explain that pleas .

Hello, Rebecca!
Thank you so much for your lesson, I had a good time with you! :)
I didn't have a good knowledge about the verb "have". You saved myself from many errors in the future! :)

Christina, what do you think, maybe better use word "mistakes" instead of word "errors"?

I think mistakes better for grammar and errors better for math results etc.

Am I right?

Hi, everybody, I joined engvid yesterday, I think it's great, I really like it

NOA1991

I did great on the test because I understood, but I was confused every time you used the third person with have instead of has, I did it as you said and I scored 100/100, then online I searched the reason why and I found out this that was very helpful to me: Third person singular (he, she, it, who, which,...) works as follows.

Present affirmative. Present negative. Past affirmative. Past negative.
She has a coat. She does not have a coat. She had a coat. She did not have a coat.

In the present tense, one and only one verb has the present marker s.
In the past tense, one and only one verb has the past marker d.

If there is an auxiliary verb (e.g., do), it takes the tense marker, and the main verb is in the "bare infinitive" form (have in this example).

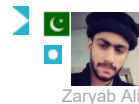

If there is no auxiliary verb, the main verb takes the tense marker.

Hi, Rebecca! It's my first time to leave a comment here. I just want to say thank you. You are my favorite teacher here in EngVid. I am a college graduate but seems like my english level is in elementary. I love the way you teach. I want to improve more my english grammar, comprehension and have confidence to speak fluently. I can't land a job because of my english. I have a fear of conversing through english because i feel like my english grammar is wrong. I look forward to learn more and speak fluently from learning with you. Thank you!
